$4 Million Gain Seen in Taxable Property of PS

Palm Springs has gained $4,380,280 in taxable property during the last year.

That's the word from the office of County Assessor Erick L. Waite, who announced Monday that Palm Springs has secured an unsecured property assessed at $71,271,270, on the tax rolls, subject to equalization.

The valuation of public utilities, which are set by the state should add another $4,785,000, according to assistant county auditor George Waterhouse.

The figures were received by City Manager Dan Wagner as "a disappointment."

"I used a total of $75 million in calculations for the preliminary budget," Wagner said. "But the city's valuations have been increasing at an average of about nine per cent each year and I was hoping for a total of at least $77 million."

"This doesn't look good," Wagner continued. "It looks like the city tax rate will be two dollars and six or seven cents unless the councilmen knock something out of the budget."

Wagner pointed out, however, that in budget sessions conducted up to this point, the councilmen have added items to the budget rather than reducing the total.

South Korea Links Ousted Premier Chang to Reds

SEOUL, Korea (UPI)—South Korea's ruling military junta today charged ousted Premier John M. Chang and seven of his ministers with collaborating with the Communists.

Also charged with collaborating with the Communists were former er prosecutor general of the Chang regime, the former director of the mint, and eight former democratic members of the Assembly, including House Speaker Kwak Sang Hoon.

The charges came only a day after Maj. Gen. Pak Chung Hi took over the role as top leader in the military junta that overthrew the Chang government in a near bloodless coup d'etat May 16.

Col. Kim Chae Choon, commander of the army counter intelligence corps, said some of the accused were in jail, and others were under house arrest. Kim said some of those under house arrest will be jailed.

What the junta had in store for ex-Premier Chang, who is currently under house arrest, was not known. Kim refused to say whether Chang would be taken to jail. The military junta, calling itself the Military Revolutionary Committee, dissolved the National Assembly, closed schools, banks, airports and harbors, and imposed a strict curfew when it took over power.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. D. R. (Billy) Matthews, D-Fla., came up with this Fourth of July story:

"Our senator will now speak for an hour, after which the band will call you all together again."

CHICAGO (UPI)—Patrolman John Hartly came to the aid of a man in distress Monday—and then promptly marched him off to jail.

Onesimo Gonzales, his arms filled with auto accessories, walked up to Hartly and told him:

"I just burglarized a gas station, but I think I dropped my wallet with $40 in it. I'll give you $10 if you help me hunt for it."

The courteous patrolman helped Gonzales look for the billfold, then took him to the police station and charged him with burglary.

732 Dead in 4th Mayhem

By United Press International

Traffic deaths mounted at a record-threatening pace on the nation's 185th birthday today. The National Safety Council called the toll "appalling." It telegraphed all governors to take all possible measures to slow the death rate — almost five per hour since the holiday began at 6 p.m. Friday.

The United Press International this morning with the holiday period 88 hours old, had counted 443 traffic deaths. The breakdown:

Traffic 443
Drownings 173
Airplanes 8
Fireworks 2
Miscellaneous 106
Total 732

California led the nation with 41 traffic deaths. Texas had 29, Ohio 25, New York 22, Arizona 15, Illinois and Missouri 14 each, and Alabama, Florida, Nevada, North Carolina and South Carolina 13 each.

"If this trend continues, the final toll will exceed 550, the highest for a summer holiday in our history," said George C. Stewart, executive vice president of the Safety Council.

Stewart warned the worst is yet to come.

"The homebound traffic on this Fourth of July holiday may very well be the heaviest we have ever experienced," he said.

Pick 14th pgh Before

Before the holiday began, the council said it expected 450 persons would be killed between Friday night and midnight tonight. The normal highway toll for a similar, non-holiday period at this time of year is 370.

The record for a summer holiday of 491 traffic deaths was set over the four-day Independence Day holiday weekend in 1950.

"The appalling toll (this year) is due to a combination of excessively heavy traffic and the tendency of too many drivers to ignore warnings and drive recklessly," Stewart said.

News In Brief

NEW YORK (UPI)—The nation's shipping tie-up continued through its 18th day today despite a Taft-Hartley back-to-work injunction. Most mariners were observing the Fourth of July, a holiday usually spent at sea.

The walkout against U. S. flag vessels was officially halted Monday night when Federal Judge Sylvester Ryan issued a temporary restraining order which had been sought by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

KUWAIT (UPI)—Arab League Secretary General Abdel Khalek Hassouna arrived here today on a mission seeking to avert armed conflict over the Iraq-Kuwait dispute.

Hassouna arrived from Baghdad where he talked with Iraqi Prime Minister Abdul Karim Kassem, who touched off the crisis last week by claiming Kuwait as part of Iraq.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—A group of nudists were scheduled to strip on the front steps of the Arkansas Capitol today in protest.

HEMINGWAY RITES TO REMAIN SIMPLE

KETCHUM, Idaho (UPI)—Simple Catholic graveside services will be held, possibly Wednesday, for famed author Ernest Hemingway, who shot himself to death with a double charge of a 12-gauge shotgun.

Coroner Ray McGoldrick said there would be no inquest into the death of the man whose literary works won him the Pulitzer and Nobel prizes. McGoldrick said "people can make up their own minds" whether Hemingway shot himself accidentally or committed suicide.

The body of Hemingway, 61, was found early Sunday in the foyer of their two-story home by the author's fourth wife, Mary. Hemingway, an ardent hunter and fisherman, kept his guns in the foyer.

Blaine County Sheriff Frank L. Hewitt said the author was killed by a double charge of shotgun pellets which struck him "from the mouth upward."

Won't Hold Inquest
County officials met with Mrs. Hemingway and the author's son, Jack, Monday and made the decision not to hold an inquest. The death certificate will read "self-inflicted gunshot wound in the head."

McGoldrick was asked whether the verdict meant that Hemingway committed suicide or that he died accidentally.

"I wasn't there so I don't know," the coroner replied. "Maybe the truth will never be known."

Origin Mystery But Element 'Not Dangerous'

Palm Springs police moved out quickly Monday when a local homeowner reported he had found a lead container labeled "radioactive."

The container, measuring three inches by six inches, was later determined by March Air Force Base technicians to be only slightly radioactive and "not dangerous to anyone." But the major question remained how it got where it was found in the first place.

Speculation is it may have fallen from a plane.

It was discovered by John C. Pierce, of 2301 Francis Dr. in the Ranch Club Estates, in a vacant lot adjacent to his home.

Police immediately secured the area and called for help from March. Two sergeant technicians from the air base's disaster control section sped to Palm Springs and determined that although the pellet was indeed radioactive, it was not dangerous.

They said their geiger counter registered a reading of only 5 milliroentgens (5-1000 of one roentgen). Approximately 600 roentgens is the danger level.

The technicians took the container and the small capsule inside it back to the base to try to determine its origin. They told local police they would call with a full report as soon as one was available.

Meantime, police say the belief is that the piece was commercial in its use and probably had something to do with hospital activity. Though it did have military markings, most radio-active materials do.

Pierce told police that he first noticed the container in the lot eight months ago, but did nothing about it. Then Monday he was near it in the lot and something caught his eye and he picked it up.

As he did, the container came open and a small plastic capsule came out. Pierce noticed the radioactive markings on the container and also noted a "Nuclear 75" marking on the capsule, which measured about 2 1/2 inches by 4 inches.

He lost no time in summoning police to the scene.

Captain O. O. Johnson of the Palm Springs Police Department emphasized it was not dangerous. He said someone "would have to swallow" the device for it to do any harm.

Water District Denies Charges

DESERT HOT SPRINGS — Directors of the Desert Hot Springs County Water District emphatically denied today that they were interfering with rights of private property owners in the district's area of jurisdiction.

Seeking to alleviate what they called "erroneous and unfounded statements concerning the recent annexation of uninhabited land," the directors specifically stated they do not have any intention of levying taxes until such time as service is rendered a given area, and that private wells would not be confiscated or controlled at any time.

Property owners desiring to drill their own wells, hot or cold, can do so at their pleasure, the directors said, and they will be insured proper representation at all times.

The statement went on to remind property owners that it is unnecessary for them to pay for legal counsel to prepare papers necessary to initiate exclusion proceedings from the District.

Any property owner wanting to be excluded can present his legal description to the board of directors and the board will use its office facilities in writing up the necessary paper for exclusion.

Eight more sections of land south of Desert Hot Spring near Highway 60-70-99 were annexed to the district by vote of the board of directors Friday.

'Big Daddy' Unruh Now Held Top Demo in State

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — "Big Daddy" Unruh is a politician every Californian should know.

Because "Big Daddy"—Assemblyman Jesse M. Unruh of Los Angeles—has emerged from the 1961 session of the legislature as the most powerful Democrat in the state. No one has stepped forward to challenge his leadership.

Republicans claim he is the closest thing to a party boss in California history. And they say he probably could take Gov. Edmund G. Brown to task if he were of such a mind.

Unruh told United Press International in an interview that he will not run for governor in 1962, that he agrees with Brown's moderate views and will wholeheartedly support Brown for re-election. The governor has not yet announced that he will run.

Party Boss

As to being a party boss, Unruh says the historic meaning of this title "puts over emphasis on brute power. You can't scare or push these guys around. If you do, eventually you'll make enough enemies so they'll gang up on you."

"Big Daddy" says he relies mainly on "reciprocity and friendship" when he is settling legislative problems and political situations of friends.

A good illustration of this occurred during the 1961 legislature when Unruh persuaded a friend in the Senate to help pass a bill he wanted. Later when the Senate friend wanted a bill passed in the Assembly, he told Unruh. Within 10 minutes the bill was approved in the lower house.

Failure to reciprocate also brings swift action. When Unruh's bill creating new Los Angeles judgeships was stalled in a Senate committee, outraged "Big Daddy" got his Ways and Means Committee to stop 65 Senate bills. Then he sat back and waited for his judges bill to move before re-viving them.

Money Bills

Unruh gained his power by having things others want. His Ways and Means Committee, which handles all money bills, puts him in a key position for trading favors. He branched into campaign financing by using his own excess funds to help deserving friends and later became a major source of campaign money by collecting it from lobbyists and other campaign fund sources and apportioning it to Democratic candidates.

His latest bid for power is the speakership of the Assembly. Although the job is not yet open, Unruh claims up to 60 of the 80 Assembly votes for the post.

As speaker in the 1962 budget session, Unruh would parcel out committee chairmanships and membership to all assemblymen. He could juggle the political make-up of any and all committees.

Dorothy Goes For Strong-Woman Roles

EDITOR'S NOTE: Vernon Scott is on vacation. Today's guest columnist is actress Dorothy Malone, who bemoans the dearth of good roles for feminine performers.

By DOROTHY MALONE

HOLLYWOOD UPI — I've often wondered whatever happened to the type of motion pictures made popular by Spencer Tracy and Katherine Hepburn, where the women were strong individuals with a will of their own.

They seem to have all but disappeared.

I was fortunate to be cast in just such a role in Universal-International's "The Last Sunset." In the film, I play the mother of an illegitimate daughter determined to bring her up with integrity and respectability.

The role afforded me wonderful opportunities as an actress not to be found too often these days.

Now all a feminine star is generally required to do is function as kind of a "reactor" to what the men are doing. They rarely if ever have initiative or strength of their own as people. What this trend indicates I can't profess to know but I wish it would stop.

I believe in femininity and adore pretty clothes but I'm also the kind of girl who blossoms in the dust. I couldn't stand a steady diet of "clothes horse" roles on the screen. There are several fine actresses who have made a career of this type of role and I admire their work.

But given the choice, I'd rather play a good strong character in a solid drama wearing just one beat - up dress than a well-groomed decoration in a role with no dimension.

Aside from bemoaning the disappearance of the good meaty roles that once were the vogue I have one major frustration. I've always wanted to do a film comedy but no one has yet given me the chance. This became especially true after winning an Oscar for "Written On The Wind." The award marked me indelibly as a dramatic actress.

1,000 Additional Desert Tracts Included in Auction

LOS ANGELES — More than 1,000 additional small tracts of desert land, some of them in the Desert Hot Springs area, will be offered at continuing auction beginning July 19, Rolla E. Chandler, manager of the Federal Land Office here, announced today.

Girl, 15, Charged in Death of Young Boy

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—A high-strung 15-year old girl went to a hospital for mental observation today on suspicion of drowning 3-year old Andy Ashley and abducting two other children in a rampage that has terrorized families here since April.

Police said the girl, Chryel Jolls, was identified by Richard Eddington, 5, and Susan Benedict, 5, as the person who kidnapped them, tied them up and left them to die by railroad tracks.

A diary which revealed in detail the kidnappings and the slaying of Andy June 23 was found in the home of the girl who has been in mental institutions twice for examinations. Clothing resembling that described by witnesses of the abductions also was found in the home and the girl wore these when she was identified by the children.

The slender blonde teen-ager lives in the same neighborhood as the three victims, police said.

The girl was taken to Meyer Memorial Hospital early today after nearly 10 hours of continuous questioning by police and psychiatrists, although she admitted nothing except that she "hated" police. Detectives said she would undergo about 10 days of mental tests and then probably would be committed to Matarwan State Hospital. No charges were filed.

Police said the girl's family had a record of mental illness.

The girl called police Monday and offered to surrender after hearing a psychiatrist, Dr. Samuel Yochelson, discuss the kidnappings on a radio program. She insisted she be allowed to talk to Yochelson who participated in the questioning.

The girl had been questioned before in the slaying of Andy when FBI agents caught her telephoning Mrs. Donna Ashley, Andy's mother, to say she had seen the boy and he was all right. She made the call on June 25, two days after the boy was abducted and only hours before his bound and gagged body was found in a lake at Delaware Park where he had been thrown in alive.

She was released after questioning then however because of an apparent discrepancy between witness descriptions of the abductor as being about 30-35 years old and the girl's youth.

Honor Graduates Teach Summer French Classes

June graduates of Palm Springs High School, honor students Sherry Pack and Leslie Siegel, are conducting French classes for children this summer.

Fundamentals of conversational French will be taught to the graduates 15 students with the aid of charts, drawings and audio-visual aids. Held twice weekly, the classes are divided into age groups.

The daughter of the W. Elden Packs of Calle San Antonio, Sherry is the former commissioner of publicity at the high school, and was a member of the Scholarship Society and Cabinet. In her junior and senior years, she received first place trophies from the Modern Language Field Day, held at San Bernardino City College, for her fluency in French. A recipient of a Panhellenic Scholarship, she was one of the speakers at her graduation. With a teaching career in mind, she will enter the University of California at Riverside next fall, and major in English and French.

Secretary of her senior class, Leslie is the daughter of the Philm Siegels of West Arenas. A most active student, she was a member of the Scholarship Society, American Field Service, and Student Court. A gold sealbearer, she received the Bank of America plaque for achievement in foreign languages and the National Merit Letter of Commendation. Recipient of the Elk's "Most Valuable Student" award, she also received the Robert Olds Memorial.

Wedding Vows Recited at Santa Ynez

In the Santa Ynez Inn in Pacific Palisades, Brenda Fae Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Harris of 1943 East Andreas Road, Palm Springs, became the bride of Terry Lee Natarus, in a late afternoon wedding. They recited their wedding vows before Rabbi Abraham Winokur of Pacific Palisades and Rabbi Joseph Hurwitz of Palm Springs, standing under a heart-shaped arch decorated in pale yellow gladioli and sprays of huckleberry, as they exchanged their vows.

The bride was beautiful in a pure silk crystalline gown with double overskirt, appliqued with alencon lace and re-embroidered with seed pearls and sequins, and with a chapel length train. A scalloped lace petal crown with an inner crown of pearls, was of silk illusion in fingertip length. She carried a cascading bouquet of white butterfly roses, phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Michael Black served as matron of honor for her sister, wearing a gown of aqua silk organza, with three-tiered full skirt and tulle picture hat and slippers in matching shades. She carried groom, from Albuquerque; Abe Natarus, grandfather, from New Mexico; Miss Bonnie Natarus, cousin, from San Francisco; aunts and uncles of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pike and Mr. and Mrs. David Pike of Bakersfield; great-aunt and uncle of the bride, Terrace Room of the Inn. Attractive centerpieces carried out the decor of pale yellow with touches of white. A four-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom, standing under a heart-shaped canopy decorated with white roses. There was a sit down dinner followed by dancing, for around 150 wedding guests.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included: an aunt of the groom, Mrs. Kermit Meyer and daughter Corrine, from Merrill, Wisconsin; Mr. and Mrs. Morris Braveman, aunt and uncle of the bridesmaid, Denise Ann Natarus.

Young Couple Visit Europe for Six Months

This week, Michael and Barbara Black of Los Angeles began a six months tour of Europe. He's the son of the Sam Blacks of Sunrise Way, and she's the daughter of the Allen Harrises of Andreas Road.

A recent graduate from the school of architecture at the University of Southern California, Mike was student body president of Palm Springs High in 1954-55.

This young couple wanted to travel abroad, and proved that where there's a will there's a way. During the first three years of their marriage, Barbara worked to put her husband through college, both she and Mike held full-time jobs this past year, and after four years they prudently saved pennies turned their dreams into a reality.

During their carefully-planned trip, they will visit famed French architect, Le Corbusier in Paris, and after purchasing a Citroen 2-CV, they will motor through France, Scandinavia, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Italy, Spain and England.

Tau Sigma Card Party Aids Fund

In her San Joaquin home, ways and means chairman Mrs. Terrence Roach hosted a card party for the benefit of Tau Sigma Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi's Cystic Fibrosis Fund.

Candies, nuts and frosty iced tea were served to club members enjoying an evening of canasta, pinochle and poker. High scorers of the evening received lovely milk glass fruit compotes and cartoon ashtrays were awarded as "booby" prizes to the low scorers. Following the card games, the hostess served cupcakes and coffee.

Among those attending were Mmes. James Schilling, John Johnson, J. R. Wahlberg, Jake Clemens, Howard Haddock, Matthew Calae, Herb Esbitt, Lee Muhleck, Rosemary Straw and Agnes Gray.

Insurance Women to Meet Thursday

President Mary Jane Kenyon announces that the Insurance Women of Palm Springs and Coachella Valley will meet at Security Bank on Ramon Road at 7:30 p.m., July 6.

Speaking on Owners, Landlords and Tenants liability insurance will be Bob Davis of Davis Insurance Agency.

A QUEENLY GOWN of pure silk crystalline, with double overskirt and chapel type train, her wedding vows with Terry Lee Natarus, was worn by Brenda Fae Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Harris, when she recited (Lewis and Rhodes Photo, Beverly Hills)

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Helen Natarus of Albuquerque, and the late Henry Abram Natarus, graduated from Highland High in Albuquerque, and was with the U.S. Marine Corps for four years, serving both in the United States and Japan. He is employed by the Aluminum Company of America in the electronic data processing department in Los Angeles, where following their honeymoon at Santa Barbara, they will reside at 1317 Lucile Avenue.

Mrs. Lorne Peat Burke of Hayward, Mrs. Ronald Peck of Palm Springs; and the sister of the groom, Miss Bobbi Jo Natarus of Albuquerque, wore gowns matching the one worn by the matron of honor, and carried nosegay bouquets of talisman roses and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Tartikoff from Elsinore.

The bride graduated from Palm Springs High School with the class of '57, attended the University of Arizona and New Mexico, and graduated from Lawton School for Medical Assistants in Beverly Hills.

Losers Are Heard From

Republican leaders, who have been back on the outside looking in since the Kennedy administration took over our government last January, are continuing a sniping attack that was launched by Thurston Martin.

A Facts Memo circulated under the name of William E. Miller, who replaced Martin as GOP national chairman, has squared off with complaints that:

A dangerous drift has set in on the New Frontier, citing errors in foreign affairs from Cuba to Asia.

Kennedy has made Uncle Sam look like a laughing stock, "particularly in the tractor-blackmail scandal."

Another Pussyfoot on Cuba, has to do with that sticky molasses deal.

In his report on the Vienna summit, Kennedy is criticized for lack of candor and an incomplete report that veiled the situation.

And moving away from President Kennedy personally, Miller's four-page mailer then continues to blast Democrats generally, highly placed senators and representatives particularly.

Of course Miller also points up with pride the projects with which the Republicans are assertedly making valiant efforts to keep the ship of state afloat in spite of the allegedly inept bumbling of the party in power.

And Miller wraps it up with a small gem about how the Latin Americans have renamed the White House. "They used to refer to the White House as 'Casa Blanca,' reports Miller. "Since the Cuban disasters, it's now 'Casa Boo-Boo,' he says.

Now, so far as our two-party system of government is concerned, we can all look on this as good clean fun from the Republican point of view—and from the Democratic side as bombasting that falls into the "to be expected" category.

But it's quite a while yet before the next congressional election takes place and most of us, Republican and Democrat alike, would much rather hear about what the GOP is doing to help our government meet the complicated problems it faces—and lacking that some practical-sounding suggestions on how the administration might better serve us.

What will you do with the land retired from production this summer in the 1961 feed grains program?

This question is one which every participant must answer for himself. Presumably most farmers will choose to put it into legumes or grass and thus take advantage of the year's layoff to build some fertility and humus in the soil.

If it is to be put back to work in the future growing feed and fiber crops, consider putting it into legumes, suggests one soil conservation specialist. If it is to be kept in pasture, consider grasses or legume-grass mixtures, he suggests as the alternative. "In this way," he adds, "the land can continue to work for the farmer and the nation."

But what about the future—what will be available in the way of a comparable program?

Nobody can say for sure at this time. The administration is working overtime to get a long-range farm bill passed early enough so farmers can plan ahead to next year. But it is slow going, and at the moment, there is not support for the administration bill to get it out of the House agriculture committee in Congress. Secretary Freeman is attempting to counter the opposition, and will hit the road on a speaking tour in June to try to drum up grassroots support for the bill. So it does not appear that major farm legislation is going to be passed in a hurry.

Meanwhile, these diverted acres can be growing a good cover of legume or grass, building fertility as well as protecting against runoff and erosion, helping mellow the soil and improve its tilth and condition, and keeping it ready for future production whenever it is needed.

Remember When . . .

JULY 4, 1951

The Owen B. Coffman American Legion Post endorsed an education program to combat communism and fellow travelers. Commander Graham Dexter told members the situation is grave. "Let's educate the public on just what the American way of life is," Dexter said.

Thousand Palms residents were campaigning for the widening of Ramon Road. The route was held to be too narrow with soft, dangerous, sandy shoulders. Spearheading the drive were Marion White and Charles Doyle.

The Desert Sun announced expansion of circulation to cover Desert Hot Springs.

JULY 4, 1941

William R. Hillery was chosen president of the high school board and Mrs. Lillian R. King, a newly elected board member, was named secretary. Board members included Raymond Cree, John Connel and Charles Burket. The board authorized the laying of cement sidewalks around the school grounds and cement floors in the dressing rooms.

Suit for $27,000 damages was filed in Riverside Superior Court for injuries suffered by Joseph D. Omlin Jr., in connection with an automobile-bicycle accident April 13. Defendant in the case was Charles H. Floyd.

JULY 4, 1931

Editor Harvey Johnson reported on a thrilling trip to Las Vegas and the Hoover Dam. He said the influx of workers for dam construction was expected to double the size of Las Vegas. At the damsite he said a hit-and-miss tent city had grown up and its denizens were waiting for a job. Closing the article, Johnson wrote:

"Since it is a time of general depression everywhere it was refreshing and inspiring to see the mighty works going on at the Colorado River and at Las Vegas. They are a hardy lot of pioneers up there who are determined to make the desert bloom."

The Millions We've Given

Dear Abby . . .

. . . by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: This is for "EXECUTIVE SECRETARY," the career girl who wants to get married. "Wipe your tears, Honey, there are plenty of chances for you. Lots of farmers would like someone to prepare their dinners. And you wouldn't have to wait until evening to cook for him. You could start right in at 5:30 in the morning, and cook all day."

"After you find your victim, stop your car, drive a nail into your tire, and call for help. He'll take over from there, baby."

CORN BELT BACHELOR (AGE 37)

DEAR BACHELOR: YOU may be worth a punctured tire and a trip to Iowa, but what about those poor girls who would probably wind up with a 64-year-old grandpa and a free ride to the garage?

DEAR ABBY: I would like to comment on the letters from "Discontented Career Girl" versus "Unappreciated Housewife."

Where did the career girl get the idea that, just as she is preparing dinner, her husband will open the front door, rush in, say, "Hi, Honey—I'm home. What's for dinner?"

Better level with her, Abby, and tell her that there will be nights when he won't make it home until 3:00 A.M.

HAVE HUSBAND, WOULD LIKE TO TRAVEL

DEAR ABBY: I am faced with a very awkward situation. We frequently invite a few friends to our home for a game of cards.

We know a couple and, my husband does business with the man. His wife is real nice, but the husband uses the filthiest language I ever heard. He doesn't have to lose his temper or get excited or anything. He just uses these dirty words, one after another, for no reason whatever. I cannot stand this man's talk any longer, and some of our friends who have been in his company in our home feel the same way about him. What can be done (tactfully) about it?

AGAINST DIRTY TALK

DEAR AGAINST: Tell your husband to see his foul-mouthed friend during business hours. If you enjoy the wife's company, socialize with her during the daytime.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TRY-ING TO FORGET": Whiskey might improve with age, but age does not improve with whiskey. Get on the wagon, boy.

What's bothering you? For a personal reply, write to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Include a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50c to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

This Side of The Sun

By R. F. 'Phat' Graettinger

The mechanical side of a hospital, apart from the pills and shots section, can be fun.

FOR INSTANCE, the electro cardiograms. The guy comes wheeling in a hand truck laden with electronic gadgets and tangle of wires. These he deftly straightened out and affixed a terminal compass and stuck three more at random at the northern perimeter. I had so many wires coming out of me I looked like one of Francis Crocker's Calceitric substations. Then he whirled the machine, played chess with the three odd terminals, jumping them around, said "Umph" and went out.

The result looked like a seismograph recording of an earthquake which registered 8 on the Richter scale.

THEN THE X-RAYS. I was photographed in all sorts of poses, none of them graceful. None of the pictures will even make honorable mention in one of those photographic guild magazines which print the "best pictures of the year."

Except maybe the one where they shot past the stubs of my denuded tonsils through my wide-open mouth to photograph my neck bones. Or the one in which they filled me with something that shone like a neon light when they applied the black light. An interesting interior photograph.

ches long and a half-inch in diameter, to supply several blood banks.

Came the day when the doctor, armed with a syringe that looked as big as the kind veterinarians use on horses and cows, slowly pushed the contents in my right arm. Then the nurse came around a half hour later with the cheerful announcement that she was going to draw blood out of my left arm four times, five minutes apart.

THE FIRST TWO went according to plan. The third time she struck a dry hole. No blood. "That's all right," I said. "There probably isn't any more left in me."

She prospected two inches north and came up with a gusher.

WHAT WORRIES ME now, is that I won't dare wear one of those short-sleeved sport shirts on the Drive when I get back to Palm Springs.

If a narcotic agent spotted all of those punctures in my arms, he'd stow me away in the klink forthwith.

And get pretty nose-ey about how I got them.

HIGH LIGHT of the sojourn came when the doctor son came in to see me one morning with a paper bag full of cigaret packs and match books.

Jim Farley Tells View Of President Kennedy

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — In Dublin, where Robert Briscoe, a Jew, has just been re-elected mayor, James A. Farley had a word for John Fitzgerald Kennedy, whose great-grandfather Pat fled the Potato Famine of the middle 19th century to take up meagre residence in Protestant Boston.

"We can be proud of President Kennedy," Jim recently told a meeting in Dublin National Stadium, gathered to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the death of Saint Patrick. "He is a man of fine intellect, of great integrity and courage that is boundless."

"No president in American history has borne greater burdens than our president is bearing at this moment," added the man who sweated out the New Deal with Franklin Delano Roosevelt. "Diplomatic disasters of first magnitude confront the nation on every side. Pressure of the enemy and doubts among our allies, the groans of the enslaved nations and peoples, and the whimpers of the appeasers assail the President from every angle. The press indicates almost daily the creation of one crisis after another."

"But it can be truly stated that in the American tradition, if the crisis is great the crisis will produce the man, and no man in the world nor in our history is better qualified to make decisions than President Kennedy. He knows the horrors of war because he has suffered them. He knows that freedom is priceless because he offered his own life to save it. My prayers, as I know do yours, accompany him in these fateful days."

"It is my conviction that he will meet the challenge which confronts him on every side and that he will give not only to the United States but to the Free World the leadership it must have in these crucial days. I sincerely believe that historians of another day will cite this American President of Irish ancestry as one of our greatest chief executives."

There's been so much recently about the John Birch Society and its adherents that John Birch himself has been lost in the shuffle. Col. John M. Virden (USAF-Ret.) writes in the Register and Defense Times:

"From what I knew of Capt. Birch during the war out in China he would have been utterly flabbergasted with the liberties that are now being taken with his name."

"The China - Burma - India theater was indeed replete with characters and contained no a few odd-balls. Cap. Birch had a good deal of both in him. But he was one of the most dedicated soldiers I have ever known."

The colonel adds: "He was a Baptist missionary commissioned into the Army Air Corps because he could speak the Chinese language and knew the geography and customs of that mysterious country better than any of us. He sat there idly turning the book over in my hand. Noticed that the back bore the picture of an imposing building.

Turned it over to see where the match book came from. There I was in a hospital, feeling low, wondering what it was all about and that match book was an advertisement for:

"Mannheim and Schultz, FUN-ERALS."

was a deeply religious man, thrown in with a crew of hard drinkers and poker players who formed Chennault's Flying Tigers . . .

"He was a loner in a gregarious crowd. He never drank anything stronger than rice paddy water. He didn't play poker. He never smoked, and he read the Holy Bible by the hour. His face was that of a dedicated zealot with those cold hard eyes of a Stonewall Jackson. But he was a good officer, one of the very best. The men who served under him swore by him.

"He usually operated deep inside Japanese territory in China. In these areas John Birch and his men built airstrips and collected such information as they could. That was considerable. In all the war in China no Japanese air strike ever hit an American or a Chinese base without a advance warning. That was the work of John Birch . . . He had a belly full of worms and some other stomach disorder called The China Grud.

"His views on communists were about the same as held by the rest of us . . . We heard of him through the Chinese - American warning net. Once he asked that some warm clothing be dropped to him at a nearby mountain pass, Birch was holding it with a bunch of Chinese irregulars and a handful of American demolition experts. The Nips never got through . . . in early September, 1945, it was learned that he had been killed by a Chinese communist patrol operating deep inside what was, or was supposed to be, Nationalist Chinese territory. He had been shot and bayoneted 15 times."

Goldwater, Clark in Social Security Deal

By HOLMES ALEXANDER

WASHINGTON—Tremors, mostly of laughter, recently shook the Senate Press Gallery to learn from debate that a Social Security Act Amendment (62-61-B) was jointly sponsored by Left and Right in the persons of Senators Joe Clark (D., Pa.) and Barry Goldwater (R., Ariz.). The amendment proposed to exempt from Social Security payments some 3,000 Amish sectarians whose religious principles forbid them to take Federal charity.

Clark, up next year for re-election, had an obvious motive which requires no elaboration. But in addition to prospecting for Pennsylvania farm votes, Clark laid hold of a high principle. He argued that the Senate ought not pass the Social Security improvements, "based on compassion," and not be willing to exempt "people whose strongly held convictions prevent them from conscientiously accepting the Social Security system."

Deeper Reasons

Goldwater's position, and reason for sponsorship, went much deeper. A few weeks ago the U. S. Treasury seized some work horses of an Amish farmer for tax debts. Every State in the Union, and every civilized nation back to Babylon, prohibits government from taking the "tools of trade" from a debtor. These same Amish, who are sincerely opposed to military service, as well as to phonies who use their "philosophy" as a draft dodge, are exempt in wartime. Yet here was the Federal Government unwilling to forgive these few Amish a small tax, and seizing their means of livelihood in payment. This was the Goldwater line.

The last laugh, however, ends on a sour note. Did Clark and Goldwater battle like libertarians to the end? No. Clark made his points and gave up rather easily because, he said, "It is a heavy burden . . . and I have no illusions as to what will happen to the amendment." As to Goldwater—he wasn't even on the floor to speak his sentiments. The amendment died in a whimper.

Koterba Mourned

Columnist Ed Koterba, dead in a plane crash, wrote for a number of papers, but many readers who enjoyed his pieces may have missed knowing him personally. No kinder person ever lived, or was more sincerely mourned by his colleagues. We are a high-strung, highly competitive lot, yet as his editors know, Koterba often praised a rival and plugged for columns, including this one, which were trying to get his space. I traveled many air miles with him, shared many confidences, couldn't have wanted a better friend. His widow, for those who wish to write her, is Mrs. Dorothy Koterba, 9200 Persimmon Tree Road, Bethesda, Md.

Major General Edwin Walker, now in military limbo for the sin often called excessive nationalism, is beyond help—but the national policy which destroyed his career for re-examination.

In a Pentagon office, where I researched the story, I was shown a wall placard with a message from President Woodrow Wilson to his Secretary of War. Dated August 6, 1914, at the White House, it read in part:

"I write to suggest that you request and advise all officers . . . to refrain from public comment . . . It seems to me highly unwise and improper that officers . . . make any public utterances to which any color of political or military criticism can be given where other nations are involved."

Walker Out Of Line

The letter was copied, framed, and mounted to the wall. I learned, soon after Mr. Kennedy took office, and it related specifically to some warlike comments by Admiral Arleigh Burke, chief of Navy operations. But the dictum carried down to Gen. Walker, commander of the 24th Division in Germany, who additionally was reprimanded, it turns out, for disparaging remarks about the writings and broadcasts of three liberal columnists.

Well, aside from protecting privileged press members from military tongue-lashings, there seems to be something else quite wrong. Granting that the military ought always to be subordinate to civilian authority, and that Walker was out of line, like Mitchell, MacArthur and many good men before him, there is the simple question of, what year is this, an' how?

If Mr. Kennedy is living in the age of Wilson, we are done for. The President is a mid-century man in most ways and certainly recognizes that our struggle with Russia is a total one. Not just arms and men, but technologies and ideas, resources and scientific accomplishments are in play. Military officers would be wooden soldiers if they did nothing but march in front of troops. It seems the worst kind of economy to chop down a military leader who fires his men with ardor for patriotism, religion, responsibility, and liberty.

We can't fight Communism and the cold war with the stiff-collar, button-shoe diplomacy of a President who died when JFK was seven years old.

Letters to The Editor

The Editor
Desert Sun
Dear Sir:

With reference to "Daily Reader" and "Disappointed Reader," it is quite obvious why these pathetic souls refrained from signing their names. One looks and finds just what one expects to find. One gets no more out of life than one is willing to put into it. More to the point, no matter how hackneyed the phrase, birds of a feather flock together. This sport - shirted visitor has obviously found his own kind.

Certainly I'm aware that there are unscrupulous service companies in the desert area. Palm Springs has no patent on them either. A Better Business Bureau would definitely be an asset to our area which has grown so rapidly.

Have you ever seen a collie pup? Wait till the rest of the dog grows up then its feet won't look so big. I'm not a city gal myself, so I can't really vouch for this statement, but I'll bet the City of Angels has its share of bogus businesses, right alongside its Better Business Bureaus.

But when this long - suffering visitor has the gall to assume that all Palm Springs is phoney, I don't really know whether to be mad or sad. Mad, because in my two years here I have met so many nice people - residents, not visitors, I couldn't even begin to name all of them. Sad, because this visitor chose to reveal such an unhappy attitude for all and sundry to read in the Desert Sun.

My advice for any who might share this attitude, but sincerely would recognize something genuine if they saw it, is volunteer to help in a charity drive, find out about the stray dog situation, inform yourself about the airport situation. Take off the silly sport shirt and you'll soon find out the sunshine is quite genuine, just as are most of the people who comprise the backbone of this unique community and who have kept it a really fine place to live.

I'm proud to have been able to call Palm Springs home. I'll gladly sign my name.

Threat Seen in Campus Invasions by Muslim Group

EDITORS NOTE: Black Muslim leader, Malcolm X, recently spoke in Berkeley. Desert Sun reporter Ken Reich, then a graduate student at the University of California, heard the address and spoke to him afterwards. His analysis follows:

By KEN REICH
As part of a campaign to increase their stature in the American political community the now-celebrated Black Muslims have recently been sending their leading spokesmen onto college campuses across the land to explain their point of view and "clear up misunderstandings."

The Muslims are an extremist Negro organization who support "complete separation of the races" in this country. Maintaining that integration will never work, they insist that the only practical solution to American race problems is for the federal government to give "some states" to American Negroes to live in and administer themselves.

There is a direct clash between these Racist desires and the programs of Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference, the Congress of Racial Equality and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Groups such as these last three want to assimilate the Negro population more closely into American life. They push for integration. The Muslims want the very opposite.

Last month the chief Muslim leader, Elijah Mohammed, sent his top deputy, Malcolm X, originally of Georgia, but now a resident of Harlem, to Harvard, Yale, the University of California, and other campuses to make speeches about what the Muslims believe in and urge upon the country.

When he got to California he found that his speech at the state university had been banned, because, the university held, he was a religious leader and religions cannot be propagated on public school domain.

This sounded strange to some because just a few weeks earlier the State Supreme Court had ruled that the Black Muslims were not a religion and thus could not distribute their literature in the state prisons. This ruling followed a riot in Folsom Prison, said to have been inspired by Muslim activities.

Malcolm X ended up speaking off-campus at Berkeley — before a packed house in the local YMCA.

Say Religion
The Muslims hold they are a religion, that their members have abandoned Christianity and converted to Mohammedanism. "Muslim" is only another way to spell the word "Moslem."

Whether their racist doctrines fit in very well with Mohammedanism, which is known as a highly egalitarian religion, is open to serious question, but it is more than mere coincidence that they call themselves Muslims.

It is more than a coincidence, for what the Muslims actually propose is the establishment in the United States of what is called in the Moslem world, a "millet" system. Under this system in the Moslem countries for centuries, various Christian and Jewish minorities were granted autonomous status. They administered themselves, under their own systems of law, and usually even lived in their own areas.

Practically speaking, these minorities formed states within states. By the turn of this century in the Turkish sections of the Ottoman Empire, for instance, there were 14 millets. It became impossible to coordinate the governmental activities of the countries in question. Such a diffuse administrative arrangement led to a chaotic situation, which was only ended when Mustafa Kemal Ataturk, the great Turkish leader, simply scrapped the whole idea as part of his reforms. It had lasted in Turkey for more than 600 years.

The institution of a similar system here is what is, in fact, proposed by the Muslims. They heap scorn on the attempts of King, Cole, and the NAACP to integrate the Negroes with American whites. They don't want members of their race to become more like other Americans; they want them to "reassert themselves as black men and show some racial pride," according to Malcolm X.

Waiting in Wings
They are certain that King and the other integrationists will fail, and when they do, they, the Muslims, who already claim almost 100,000 adherents, though it is believed this is much exaggerated, will be waiting in the wings to take over leadership of American Negroes.

Demands would then be made that the government give some states to the Negroes to live in and govern. "Separation will continue," Malcolm X says, "but instead of the whites being on top and us on the bottom, we'll be separate, side by side."

The Muslim leadership is intelligent enough to realize that what they want seems fantastic to most Americans and that in normal times their demands would simply be brushed, not to say laughed, off.

But, as many observers have pointed out from the beginning, violence is implicit in the movement. The occasion presenting itself, there is little doubt the movement's leaders would use it to try to get what they want.

This, think many racial experts, is what makes the Black Muslims potentially very dangerous. That the whole movement is of some significance can no longer be doubted.

NEWLY ELECTED Imperial Potentate of 825,000 Shriners, Marshall M. Porter, left, is presented jewel of office by George A. Mattison Jr., immediate Past Imperial Potentate, at the fraternal organization's 87th Imperial Council Session in Miami. The new Shrine leader, the third Canadian since 1876 to hold the group's highest office, is a justice of the Supreme Court of Canada and a resident of Calgary. He will direct 1961-62 affairs of 166 Shrine temples and 17 hospitals for crippled children throughout the United States, Canada, Mexico and the Panama Canal Zone. Mattison is a Birmingham, Alabama, industrialist.

SLEEPING GIANTS TO ARISE, DARK STATES

CHICAGO (UPI)—San Francisco Giant manager Alvin Dark plans no radical shakeup of his team over the second half of the National League season.

He said Monday that he feels that the Giants can bounce back from the slump that has seen them fall deep into third place, five games off Cincinnati's hot pace.

"I've never seen a club lose as many tough games as we have this year," he said. "But this race isn't over by a long way—77 games long, in fact. It's wide open and we're in it."

Dark also pointed out that the double headers which have played havoc with the thin Giants mound corps will soon be over.

The Giants face the Chicago Cubs here today in the traditional July 4 twin bill. But after today, only three more double headers are on the Giant schedule.

Dark also indicated he planned to name four steady starters and use the rest of the pitching staff mainly in relief. He was indefinite as to whom the big four would be, but indicated they might include Mike McCormick, Juan Marichal, Dick LeMay and Sam Jones.

Today he planned to start Billy Loes (5-5) and the just-recalled Eddie Fisher (0-1) before relegating them to bullpen duty behind the four starters.

Browns Ink Five

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—The Cleveland Browns of the National Football League have signed defensive captain Walt Michaels and linebackers Vince Costello, Galen Fiss, Dave Lloyd and Dick Grecni. All but Grecni are veterans.

Kline Gains Win After Duren

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Angels closed out their home stand today with a double-header against Kansas City after having taken a disputed game from the Athletics Monday night.

Following today's games, the Angels leave for Minnesota and the start of a two-week road trip. The holiday twin bill had a 10:30 a.m. starting time and the first game featured 18-year-old $125,000 bonus rookie Lew Krausse, 12, pitching against Los Angeles' Ted Bowsfield, 42.

In the second game, Joe Nuxhall, 45, opposes Ken McBride, 7-5, the Angels' leading pitcher.

Reliever Ronnie Kline got credit for Monday night's 5-3 win by working seven innings after starter Ryne Duren was lifted, trailing 0-2. It was Kline's first win in two months.

The game was highlighted by an unusual double play in the fourth in which Angel catcher Earl Averill tagged out two men at third base.

Following the play, the Athletics announced they were finishing the game under protest.

With men at second and third, Dick Howser grounded to Angel third baseman Eddie Yost, who threw to the plate. Joe Pignatano, the lead runner, hurried back to third, only to find it occupied by Wayne Causey.

Averill first tagged Causey and then caught Pignatano off the base for the second out.

Kansas City went into an early lead on Gene Stephens' two-run homer in the first inning. The Angels picked up a run on three singles in the fourth inning and then drove A's starter Jim Archer from the mound in the fifth, scoring two runs on a pair of singles, Ken Hunt's sacrifice fly and Steve Bilko's double. They added another in the sixth and then Hunt hit his 16th homer in the eighth.

Hunt now has hit five homers in the last seven games, while little Albie Pearson, who hit three singles last night, has batted .477 in the last 10 games to boost his seasonal average to .308.

Pastrano Gets Out

GOTEBORG, Sweden (UPI)—Light heavyweight contender Willie Pastrano of Miami Beach, Fla., will meet Swedish champion Lennart Risberg in a 12-round bout at Stockholm's Olympic Stadium on Aug. 6.

Pastrano is due in Sweden in mid-July and will establish his training camp at Leksand, a health resort 165 miles north of here.

DODGERS EDGE BRAVES 3-2; REMATCH TODAY

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—The Los Angeles Dodgers battle the Milwaukee Braves again today in an afternoon game at County Stadium, sending Stan Williams (7-7) to the mound.

Fireworks day here will also see rookie Bob Hendley (1-1), who will try to thwart second-place Los Angeles' hopes of catching in the next few games.

The Dodgers won Monday night, 3-2, as a crowd of 18,901 Wisconsin baseball fans watched Sandy Koufax win his 11th game of the season. Sandy is the first National League pitcher to reach the mark.

He hurled for eight innings, gave up a measly three hits and struck out seven. He walked six and allowed a pair of earned runs in the sterling effort. He seems well on the road to 20 victories.

Larry Sherry finished up for him in the ninth.

Sharing plaudits with Koufax was shortstop Maury Wills, the only Dodger so far to earn a starting all-star berth. Wills hit a sharp single in the top of the ninth to score John Roseboro with the winning run.

Wills is batting .323 and also had another hit during the game Monday night. Wally Moon went hitless and his average dropped to .323.

It was the fifth Dodger win in 13 games. They remained two games behind Cincinnati, which defeated Pittsburgh Monday, 4-3.

The amazing Koufax now has defeated all seven other clubs in the tough National League. His 11 wins equals his all-time best with the Dodgers, whom he joined in Brooklyn as a bonus baby.

Sea Orbit, First Balcony Favored

INGLEWOOD (UPI)—Sea Orbit, a hardluck horse during most of his racing career, goes after his third straight stakes victory today when he heads a field of 12 in the $50,000 American Handicap at Hollywood Park.

His chief rival was expected to be First Balcony, the clubfoot winner of the $100,000 added Californian in which he beat Prove It, star of winter racing at Santa Anita.

First Balcony carries the top impost of 123 pounds with Sea Orbit carrying a pound less.

McKinley Sole U. S. Survivor In Net Meet

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—Karen Hantze, 18, Chula Vista, Calif., the last surviving U.S. player in women's singles, was beaten by Renee Schuurman of South Africa, 6-4, 2-6, 7-5, today in the quarter-final round of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships.

The defeat of Miss Hantze meant that the United States will be without a representative in the semifinals of women's singles for the second straight year. Until 1960 America had placed at least one woman in the semifinals every year since the 1920s.

The loss also left Chuck McKinley, St. Ann, Mo., as the only American still competing in either men's or women's singles. McKinley is scheduled to play Mike Sangster of Britain in the men's semifinals Wednesday.

The unseeded Miss Schuurman, whose victory was an upset since Miss Hantze was seeded eighth, thus qualified to meet sixth-seeded Christine Truman of Britain in the semifinals.

Miss Truman won her quarter-final today in another upset, beating second-seeded Margaret Smith of Australia, 3-6, 6-3, 9-7.

Reds Edge NL at Season Midpoint

The Cincinnati Reds are pointing for their first National League pennant in two decades and they have the percentages to back them up.

Over 60 per cent of the NL champions since 1900 approached the July 4 milestone at the top of the standings and managed to retain their leads at the season's finish. Pittsburgh carried a 3 1/2 game margin at the half-way mark last year and won the pennant by seven.

True, the Reds don't have a Bucky Walters, Paul Derringer or Johnny Vandermeer on their pitching staff as they did in 1940, but the likes of Jim Maloney, Bob Purkey and Joey Jay have earned Cincinnati a two-game edge going into today's Independence Day festivities.

Maloney won his fifth game of the year Monday night when the Reds edged Pittsburgh, 4-3. The victory gave Cincinnati a .623 percentage compared to the .641 they took into the July 4 action of the 1940 championship season.

Dodgers Edge Milwaukee
Second place Los Angeles topped Milwaukee, 3-2, in the only other National League game Monday night.

In the American League, Baltimore beat Cleveland, 5-0, on Milt Pappas' four hits. Washington trimmed Boston, 6-3. Bob Allison's grand slam homer brought Minnesota a 7-6 victory over Chicago and Los Angeles defeated Kansas City, 5-3.

Detroit and second place New York were idle but hook up in a doubleheader today that could erase the Tigers' one game lead.

Cincinnati is not particular over which one cops the AL bunting. The Reds would like to avenge a 1939 World Series loss to the Yankees and figure they can repeat their 1940 triumph over the Tigers.
